

Q. How much money was raised in 2009?

A. It's not money Governor Barbour raised, but rather how much RGA raised. In 2009, RGA had a record fundraising year, especially when you consider there were only two gubernatorial races. For 2009, RGA will break its fundraising record of $28.2 million set in 2006 when there were 36 governors' races.

Q. How much money does RGA hope to raise in 2010?

A. More than was raised in 2009.

Other points:

- In 2009, Governor Barbour made three campaign trips to Virginia and one to New Jersey.
- One of the reasons RGA's fundraising has been so successful is that more Republican governors are participating more actively in the organization.
- RGA will carry forward more money into 2010 than it spent in all the 2006 races combined.
